Mr. Stankee concentrates his practice in international and domestic tax planning and litigation. He designs investment and operating vehicles for both inbound and outbound transactions and business activities to minimize his clients' world-wide income and estate tax exposure. He prepares all of the documents necessary to implement the plan, including purchase and sales agreements, technology licenses, loan and security instruments, distribution agreements, contract manufacturing agreements, and joint venture agreements. He plans, negotiates, and documents complex corporate transactions of all types, including international and domestic mergers and acquisitions. Mr. Stankee is particularly experienced in dealing with the Finance, Real Estate Development, Manufacturing, Sales Distribution, Maritime, Aviation and Technology Industries.

As a tax litigator, Mr. Stankee represents taxpayers in tax cases through trial and appeal. Many of his cases involve highly technical international tax issues. He has extensive trial experience in the U.S. Tax Court and appellate experience in the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals. He also represents taxpayers in litigation with State and local tax authorities.

Mr. Stankee is a Certified Public Accountant (Florida, 1984), and is Board Certified in Taxation by the Florida Bar Board of Certification (1986).

Mr. Stankee is recognized in Florida Super Lawyers, 2006-2008 and is AV® rated by Martindale Hubble.
